The drawings are objected to because the shading and thickness of lines is not uniform (all Figures); and proper cross-hatching is not present (all Figures). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "disordered periodic structure" and the heating element must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 6, 8, 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The originally filed disclosure is silent on how to create a "disordered periodic structure" or how to form the lattice such that "the lattice comprises a heating element".

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5, 6, 8, and 18-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 5 and 10 are indefinite as they fail to further limit the claims from which they depend, as the ordered periodic structure is required for the "lattice" that is the structure and therefore what further limitation is intended to be implied is unclear. Claim 6 is indefinite as the exact meaning of the term "disordered periodic structure" is unclear. Claim 8 is indefinite as the exactly what is intended to be claimed by reciting "the photonic lattice comprises a heating element" is unclear. Claims 2 and 18 are indefinite, as they are substantial duplicates of each other, therefore the difference in scope between these claims is unclear. Claim 22 is indefinite as the exact meaning of the term "complete band gap" is unclear.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 7-10, and 18-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Flemming et al ('854).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor in combination with Flemming et al ('298). Taylor et al teach a method of electrosurgery wherein a waveguide is used to transfer energy from the source to the patient. Flemming et al ('298) teach employing a photonic lattice as a wave guide to conduct microwave energy. It would have been obvious to the artisan of ordinary skill to provide the wave guide of Flemming et al ('298) in the device of Taylor et al, since Taylor et al expressly state that any type of waveguide may be used, thus producing a device such as claimed.
